You love your pet, and your pet loves you back. You provide them with love, attention and—their favorite part—food, and in return your furry, scaly or feathery friend is always happy to see you when you come home. But there’s one thing you cannot give them, and that’s an expert medical opinion. So when it comes to your pet’s medical needs you entrust the health and happiness of your pet to a professional. The only question is, which one?

The American Veterinary Medical Association recommends that you pick your vet using the same care and criteria you would in selecting a family doctor or dentist. It’s about finding a committed and skilled practitioner, of course, but it’s also about finding someone you can establish a working relationship with, because communication between you and your vet is maybe the most important factor in maintaining your pet’s health and happiness. Pay your potential practitioner a visit and get to know them a little before making a decision. Maybe even ask for a quick tour of the practice to make sure it’s the sort of place that you—and your pet—will be happy to visit.

The AVMA also advises that you ask family, friends and even other veterinarians for their recommendations before choosing a practitioner. And that’s how our list of Virginia’s Top Veterinarians 2011 was compiled. We partnered with topVets—an organization committed to identifying the nation’s top practitioners—and asked a select number of Virginia vets which of their colleagues they would recommend. So the names on our Top Veterinarians 2011 list are truly the vet’s vets of Virginia.

A trip to the vet can be a nervous experience; for you as well as for your pet. But if you’re visiting one of Virginia’s Top Veterinarians then you can do so knowing the practitioner you are about to see has the full confidence of his or her peers. We hope you find our list helpful, and we hope it gives you some peace of mind when deciding who will care for your companion.

Dr. Nicola Williamson

Treating all patients with care and compassion.

Dr. Williamson is dedicated to helping pets with skin problems, ear problems and allergies.

Dr. Williamson obtained her B.A. from the University of Virginia and earned her Doctor of Veterinary Medicine at Virginia/Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine. Her internship in small animal internal medicine and surgery was performed at the Animal Medical Center in New York City. She completed her residency in Veterinary Dermatology at the University of Tennessee, and received her board certification in Dermatology from the American College of Veterinary Dermatology.

Dr. Williamson’s work has been published in text books and Veterinary Journals. She has also participated in drug trials with major pharmaceutical companies, helping to further better treatment in pets with skin diseases.

CLIENT TESTIMONIALS:

- “Dr. Williamson is the ultimate pet LISTENER who creates highly individualized treatments according to your loved one’s needs and idiosyncrasies.”

- “It is simply wonderful to know that Dr. Williamson cares, truly cares, as she ministers to pet and owner.”

If your pet is suffering from scratching, chewing, licking, ear infections, red bumps, hair loss, or other dermatology problems, Dr. Williamson is here for you. She treats all patients with care and compassion.

Compassionate veterinary expertise with integrity

Your pet deserves the best emergency and critical care

Fortunately at VRCC, best doesn’t mean overpriced

We strive to contain costs and make quality specialty vet care more affordable by operating as a united care facility. This means our emergency veterinarians and specialists operate from one practice, maximizing efficiency and minimizing costly duplication. It also means pet owners receive one, consolidated bill reflecting a great value for the best quality and compassionate care available. That way your animal companion feels better and so do you.

VRCC is a critical and emergency hospital located near Short Pump Town Center. Visit our website at VRCCvet.com or call 804.784.8722.
